Objectives: The third iteration of the IQAC NAAC Orientation and Training Program introduced a new hands-on workshop component, with the following objectives: Enhance Preparedness for IIQA and SSR: To further strengthen participants' knowledge and skills for the timely and accurate submission of the Institutional Information for Quality Assessment (IIQA) and Self Study Report (SSR), building on prior training sessions. Improve Documentation Accuracy: To provide practical, hands-on experience in preparing comprehensive and accurate documentation, ensuring alignment with NAAC guidelines. Streamline Submission Process: To differentiate this session by focusing on real-time application and collaboration among departments, simplifying the preparation and submission process for IIQA and SSR. Outcome Expected: Increased Readiness: Participants were expected to be even better prepared for the submission of IIQA and SSR, with enhanced understanding from both theoretical and practical perspectives. High-Quality Documentation: The hands-on component was anticipated to result in improved accuracy and completeness of documentation, directly addressing common challenges identified in previous sessions. Efficient Submission Process: A more coordinated and efficient effort across departments, leading to a seamless and timely submission of IIQA and SSR. Outcome Achieved: Enhanced Preparedness: Participants reported a deeper understanding of the IIQA and SSR processes, with the hands-on workshop boosting their confidence and readiness for submission. Improved Documentation: The introduction of practical exercises led to significant improvements in documentation quality, with participants better equipped to prepare precise and well-organized records. Streamlined Process: This program's unique hands-on approach successfully fostered enhanced inter-departmental coordination, leading to a more efficient and timely submission process. Overall, this third program, with its added hands-on workshop, effectively elevated the institution's readiness for IIQA and SSR submission, setting a new standard for future training sessions.

Objectives: Update on NAAC Manual: Ensure Criteria Heads and Coordinators were informed about the latest changes in the NAAC Manual, including relevant rules and regulations. Enhance Documentation Processes: Train participants on effective documentation processes, focusing on accuracy, completeness, and alignment with NAAC criteria. Criteria-Wise Documentation Verification: Guide participants on the process of criteria-wise documentation verification, ensuring documents are accurately compiled and prepared for submission. Streamline Accreditation Preparedness: Foster collaboration among departments to streamline the NAAC accreditation process.

Outcome Expected:

Increased Knowledge: Participants would gain a comprehensive understanding of the updated NAAC Manual and its specific criteria. Improved Documentation: Higher quality documentation adhering to NAAC standards was expected. Efficient Verification: The verification process was expected to become more streamlined and accurate. Enhanced Coordination: Better inter-departmental communication and collaboration. Accreditation Preparedness: Enhanced readiness for the NAAC accreditation process.

Outcome Achieved:

Comprehensive Understanding: Participants gained a thorough understanding of the updated NAAC Manual, leading to greater confidence in documentation. Improved Documentation Quality: Documentation quality significantly improved, with documents being more organized and accurate, reducing the need for revisions. Streamlined Verification: The verification process became more efficient, with fewer errors and omissions. Enhanced Collaboration: Improved inter-departmental collaboration contributed to a unified approach. Effective Documentation: Departments were able to produce high-quality documentation, with most of them aligning their records and reports as per NAAC requirements. Preparedness for Accreditation: The institution saw marked improvement in readiness for the accreditation process, with fewer gaps identified in mock assessments. There was noticeable improvement in inter-departmental communication and support, leading to a more unified effort towards accreditation.
